

Wraparound with Intensive Services (WISe)

Apple Health services covered without a managed care plan (also called fee-for-service) referral list by county, as of November 30, 2023

Some services are paid for by Apple Health without a managed care plan, also called fee-for-service (FFS). That's what we call it when Apple Health pays providers directly for each service they do, using your ProviderOne service card.

Most Apple Health clients receive their regular health care coverage through a managed care plan. Apple Health coverage without a managed care plan is sometimes necessary due to the way other coverage works with Apple Health – for instance, when clients have Medicare as their primary coverage.

Your primary care provider or health plan will help you find these benefits and coordinate your care, when necessary.
