Non-Emergency Medical Transportation (NEMT)
An introduction to the NEMT program and Washington State Apple Health

Overview
The purpose of this document is to provide clarification regarding Medicaid requirements for non-emergency medical transportation (NEMT), and to help providers determine whether Medicaid-paid transportation may be available for eligible clients to access providers of covered services.

As Washington’s single state Medicaid agency, the Health Care Authority (HCA) is solely responsible for administering any Medicaid-funded program or service (See 42 CFR 431.10). The HCA provides NEMT in accordance with federal Medicaid regulations, including 42 CFR 431.53 which requires that the Medicaid State Plan ensure necessary transportation for clients to and from providers to receive covered services, and describe the methods that the agency will use to meet this requirement.

Background
The Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 allowed for states to obtain Medicaid matching funding at the federal medical assistance percentage (FMAP) when administering the NEMT services using transportation brokers. Requirements for using brokers are found at 42 CFR 440.170, and include competitive procurements and eliminating conflicts of interest. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) requires a comprehensive state plan amendment (SPA) which describes how NEMT services will be procured and provided to clients.

The NEMT SPA includes the eligible client groups and lists the types of transportation modes which brokers can authorize. CMS limits transportation to individuals who have no other means of transportation, and excludes coverage of NEMT for school-based services. Since Medicaid is always the payer of last resort, any other program which provides or has a requirement to provide a client’s transportation must be used first.

It is important to note that changes to the State Plan Amendments, Programs, or Waivers may affect the benefit for Non-Emergency Medical Transportation (NEMT). Please contact the NEMT program to discuss potential impact to clients.

The Washington State NEMT Program
As allowed by federal regulations and in accordance with the NEMT SPA, HCA contracts with six transportation brokers who serve 13 geographic regions and cover all 39 counties in Washington State. Some brokers serve single-county regions, and others serve multi-county regions. These brokers are experienced with the transportation resources and the needs of the communities they serve.

In addition to federal requirements, state regulations (Washington Administrative Code or WAC) govern how the brokered transportation service is provided.
program operates. Refer to WAC 182-546-5000 through 182-546-6200. In general, NEMT is covered if the following conditions are met:

- The client is eligible for a medical assistance program included in the State Plan;
- The health care service, for which the trip is needed, must be a Medicaid-covered service (within the scope of coverage of the client’s benefit services package);
- The health care service must be medically necessary;
- The health care service must be delivered by an authorized provider;
- The trip is to a local provider, unless there is an allowable exception;
- The trip is authorized in advance by the transportation broker;
- The client must use personal transportation resources first; and
- The trip is the lowest-cost available transportation mode (or alternative), that is both accessible to the client and appropriate for the client’s medical condition and personal capabilities (i.e. bus, sedan/lift-equipped vehicle, etc.

New Service Providers
NEMT brokers contract directly with transportation service providers. If you are interested in becoming a transportation service provider, contact the regional transportation broker that is responsible for the counties where you want to do business. Health care providers can apply to become a Washington State Medicaid provider with the HCA. The HCA reimburses enrolled eligible providers for covered medical services, equipment, and supplies they provide to eligible clients.
